

Resources and Support for AAPI Students (Updated 3/22/2021)

- Stop AAPI Hate gives specific actions to stay safe and/or report incidents: <https://stopaapihate.org/actnow/>
- Here's a longer list of resources for reporting hates crimes and/or for learning how to intervene as a bystander: <https://www.aapiern.org/hate-incidents>
- Palo Alto University has a comprehensive list of mental health resources for Asian, Asian American, Pacific Islander and South Asian students: <https://www.paloaltou.edu/asian-pacific-islander-student-resources>
- This NY Times lesson plan includes suggestions for self-care for AAPI students as well as further learning resources for allies: <https://www.nytimes.com/2021/03/02/learning/lesson-of-the-day-a-rise-in-attacks-on-asian-americans.html>
- FSU's Scholarships by Identity site: <https://onf.fsu.edu/identity>.
- The Asian Pacific American Institute for Congressional Studies sponsors both Congressional Fellowships and Internships with the express purpose of "promoting Asian Pacific American participation and representation at all levels of the political process." <https://apaics.org/>.
- The University of Rochester's Office of Undergraduate Research - summer research programs open to international students: <https://www.rochester.edu/college/ugresearch/opportunities/summer-international-students.html>.

- The University of Minnesota's Asian Pacific American Resource Center has catalogued scholarships such as the Korean Ancestry Grant (app deadline April 1!). The listing is available here: <http://aparc.umn.edu/aapi-resource-library/asian-american-and-pacific-islander-scholarships>.
- Advancing Justice Atlanta: <https://www.advancingjustice-atlanta.org/>. Their IG account is: @advancing_justice_atl. There, you will find 3 ways to support Georgia's AAPI community.